MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Intelligence

FROM:

Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT:

Economic Sanctions

- 1. This book Sid Weintraub put together may be useful in connection with Bill Clark's suggestion in a memo to me of some three weeks ago that we review the value of economic sanctions.
- 2. On that, I see an important distinction between sanctions with their coercive and punitive intent and withholding things which are harmful to our policy.
- 3. In the latter case, we impose sanctions on ourselves in the name of some higher beneficence--free trade, nice guy, call it what you will.
- 4. Also, in last Sunday's NEW YORK TIMES magazine, George Ball had some interesting things to say about our efforts to stop the first Soviet-West European pipeline during the Kennedy-Johnson administration.
